2. Citations and explanations:

The documents retrieved and cited describe high density optical recording media such as of the blu-ray type with playback control. However, none of them shows the combination of the method and apparatus for creating playback control files with play list and external source, respectively. As this pertains to the independent claims 1, 11, 14, 17-19, and as all other claims refer to said claims, the whole method and apparatus of the present application must be considered novel and inventive. Industrial applicability is given.
